Trustees Approve Projects

Three projects to accommodate the rapid growth on the San Bernardino campus, including the schematic plans for the $17.6 million 1990 building, were approved by the CSU Board of Trustees Nov. 11.

The trustees approved the appointment of an architect for the addition to the Student Union. The firm of Wolff-Lang-Christopher Architects, Inc., of Ontario will design a $1.5 million addition to the Student Union. The project will be funded by increased fees approved by the student body in 1985.

The campus also was granted permission to add five more temporary structures to the campus for use until the multi-story classroom-student services-faculty office building is completed in 1990.

The temporary site north of the Library and east of the Biology Building will be expanded to accommodate a larger structure containing 40 faculty offices and four modular classroom buildings, explained William Shum, facilities planner for the university. These units are to be ready for the fall of 1988.

Special approval by the trustees is needed for the use of temporary, modular structures on a CSU campus. Four temporary classroom buildings were installed last fall and modular faculty office buildings already are situated behind the Student Services building.

The university has filed its environmental impact report for the 1990 building, indicating the structure would not adversely impact on the environment, Shum said. With the approval of the schematic plans by the trustees, the architect can proceed with detailed floor plans for the building.

11 Receive Sabbaticals For Next Year

Sabbaticals for all or part of the next academic year have been awarded to 11 faculty members, Dr. J. C. Robinson (Academic Personnel) announced. Six additional professors will receive difference-in-pay leaves for the coming year.

Receiving sabbaticals will be: Dr. David L. Decker (Sociology), Leo Doyle (Art), Dr. Lee H. Kalbus (Chemistry), Dr. Brij B. Khare (Political Science), Janice Loutzenhiser (Management), Dr. Arthur Moorefield (Music), Dr. T. Patrick Mullen (Education), Dr. James Okon (Math), Dr. C.E. Tapie Rohm, Jr. (Information and Decision Sciences), Dr. Richard Rowland (Geography) and Dr. Carl P. Wagoner (Criminal Justice).

The difference-in-pay leaves were granted to Dr. Edward J. Erler (Political Science), Dr. Dennis Ikenberry (Computer Science), Dr.

Paul J. Johnson (Philosophy), Dr. Richard S. Saylor (Music), Dr. Lynda W. Warren (Psychology) and Dr. Ruth C. Wilson (Biology).

The time away from classes will be used to prepare books and articles for publication, develop new materials for classes and to study topics ranging from American folk art and Asian music to church-state relationships and police perceptions.

Dr. Decker will be away in spring quarter 1989 to complete a revision of his textbook, Social Gerontology, which will include a new module on a microcomputer disk.

Professor Doyle, who is skilled as a professional woodturner, will document the history of the art of woodturning and interview American folk-turners during the spring quarter. He will produce an oral history for the archives of the Woodturning Center and Museum in Philadelphia.

Dr. Kalbus will have fall and winter quarters to continue research in two areas in analytical chemistry. He expects to complete five or six experiments that can be used by students in the general chemistry course.

Dr. Khare will be seeking solutions to controversies and conflicts in church-state relations during his project titled "Religion and Statecraft: Church and Society in Asian

Thought." He will be off winter-spring 1989.

The teaching of ethics in schools of business will be the focus of Professor Loutzenhiser's work during winter and spring quarters. She plans to develop reading lists, prepare articles and also hopes to develop workshops for the business community.

Dr. Moorefield will spend the year continuing his research into the liturgical music of the 16th century German Lutheran church. He will be working in libraries in East and West Germany.

Dr. Mullen plans to compile his research in study strategies for normal and handicapped students into a textbook for teachers during his one quarter leave.

A computer graphics component for Math 606 will be designed by Dr. Okon during winter quarter 1989. The course, designed for prospective teachers, is part of the department's planned M.A. in math for teachers.

Dr. Rohm will use the winter quarter 1989 to establish the International Information Management Association (he will be the founding president), to co-author a book, The Essentials of Information Systems, and to develop a prospectus for another book.

Dr. Rowland will be working on his third co-authored book on regional population growth in the USSR during the fall quarter.

Dr. Wagoner proposes to measure the attitudes of working police officers toward the seriousness of a number of different crimes in two geographical areas, the Inland Empire and Bloomington, Ill., and to relate these attitudes to day-to-day enforcement on the street.

With his difference-in-pay leave, Dr. Erler plans to complete a project on the Constitution and the Ninth amendment. This once-forgotten amendment is now mentioned in debate about judicial activism, including the Bork confirmation hearings this fall.

Dr. Ikenberry will study current fourth-generation computer languages and expert systems, a subset of artificial intelligence, and develop software for university applications.

Dr. Johnson will prepare a book, Thomas Hobbes and the Dialectics of Civility, plus edit another book on Hobbes and participate in several conferences in Europe.

Dr. Saylor plans two extended trips to China, Taiwan, Japan and Indonesia to do further work in the music and art of these countries.

Dr. Warren will use her year to write a book in the general area of psychopathology, with a specific focus on personality disorders, for an educated, lay audience. Her tentative title is Crazy-Making People: How to Understand, Live and Work with Them.

Dr. Wilson will pursue her work in systems ecology, developing resources for K-12 science education and preparing papers for publication.

Soccer Team Bids for National Title

The national championship in NCAA Division III soccer is within grasp of the Cal State Coyotes, who won the regional championship last Saturday.

Tomorrow at 11 a.m. (EST) the Coyotes face Washington University (MO) in the national semi-finals at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro. If they survive that game, they will play for the title on Sunday afternoon.

The Coyotes won their berth in the national title match by edging out Elizabethtown College (PA) 1-0 on a snow-frosted field before an crowd of 2000 on Nov. 14. The victory came after eight penalty kicks which followed 90 minutes of regulation play and two 10-minute overtimes.

The soccer squad, coached by Carlos Juarez, has zoomed to the top strata in the NCAA in just four years. Intercollegiate athletics began on the Cal State campus in 1984.

The women's volleyball team earned its second post-season bid, competing in the Western Region finals Nov. 14. The squad, coached by Naomi Ruderman, lost to UC San Diego, last year's national champion.

Campus to Have Brief Holiday

The campus will be closed Nov. 26-27 to enable employees and students to enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday.

Both the Library and the Commons will be closed those two days but will reopen for Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 28-29.

The Library will begin its traditional end-of-the-quarter hours Monday, Nov. 28. An hour later closing (11 p.m., instead of 10 p.m.) will be in effect Monday-

Thursday, Nov. 28-Dec. 10. Weekend hours are the same as usual until Saturday, Dec. 12 when the Library will close at 1 p.m., after the conclusion of the last final.

Final exams for the fall quarter will be given Dec. 7-12. The quarter recess for faculty and students begins Dec. 12. The Commons closes from that day until Jan. 7.

Campus Invited To Holiday Dinner

The Cal State Associates will host its annual holiday progressive dinner Saturday evening, Dec. 12.

"All employees of the university are cordially invited to attend. Membership in the Associates is not required," said Mrs. Lorraine El-Ahraf, chairman for the event.

After hors d'oeuvres in the homes of President and Mrs. Anthony H. Evans and Vice President and Mrs. Robert Detweiler, the group will gather at the University Commons at 8 p.m. for the traditional turkey dinner.

A special menu, musical entertainment and door prizes are planned for the evening.

Reservations must be made by Dec. 3. The cost is $15 per person. Guests will be notified which home they are visiting for hors d'oeuvres.

Checks may be sent to Mrs. El-Ahraf at her husband's office, AD 189 (Academic Resources).

Imagination Players Perform Downtown

The Imagination Players from the Theatre Arts Department will perform 10 short stories for children at the Norman F. Feldheim Central Library in downtown San Bernardino Monday evening, Nov. 30.

"All children and their families are invited to join us for a delightful evening of favorite stories, folk tales and fairy tales," said Dr. Susie Rudisill, company director.

The hour-long performance will begin at 7 p.m. in the Bing S. Wong Lecture Hall. There is no admission charge.

Members of the company are Lisa Giere, a theatre arts major, and Michelle Sherman, Dorrie Hall and Susan Mitchell, all liberal studies majors.

Campus Hosted Academic Decathlon

More than 220 high school students and their coaches were on campus last Saturday for the fifth annual San Bernardino County Schools Academic Decathlon.

Nine Cal State faculty and staff were involved in the day-long test of academic prowess. Anita Rivers (Relations with High Schools) and Kathleen Beemer (formerly Scheduling Office) were the site chairpersons. Sigma Chi fraternity helped in a variety of ways.

Volunteers from the campus who served as speech and interview judges and proctors included: Dr. Keith Dolan (Education), Carolyn Martin (Physical Education), Don McKenzie (Budget Office), Dr.

Tom Pierce (Economics), Dr. Jerrold Pritchard (Academic Programs), Dr. Sidney Ribeau (Undergraduate Studies), and Edna Steinman (Publications).

The winning team, not yet announced, will compete in the state Academic Decathlon March 12-14 in Sacramento. Although Fontana High School won the Super Quiz, the overall winner will not be revealed until the honors banquet.

Students to Do Sacred Dances

Five members of the university dance club, Dance Images, and their director, Gilda Gant, will perform a religious dance at the First Congregational Church, 7th and Lemon, in Riverside, at 10 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 22.

Performing Psalm 107 with readers and "A Song of Thanksgiving" with the choir will be Ta'Lesha Bennett, Gilda Gant, Tara Keenan, Jana Rice, Dawn Richardson and Michelle Webley.

"Sacred dance has Biblical roots and is performed in many churches today," said Gant, lecturer in physical education. "It is a visual extension and interpretation of words and song and adds a special dimension to the church service."

Dance Images, a student club, was started by Ms. Gant last spring. Membership is open to men and women students who are interested in dance.

President's Assistant Hopes To See All Sides

Both Dr. Juan Gonzalez and his emerging job description reflect diversity and that bodes well for the new assistant to President Anthony Evans.

Under the broad umbrella of "assisting the president," Gonzalez expects to become involved in the life of the campus and the community. As an emissary to the community, he anticipates making presentations and speeches and becoming part of the community relations network. Internally, he will respond to requests for data and serve on a number of committees including Administrative Council, Senior Management Committee, Intercollegiate Athletics Committee and will be the lead administrator for the University Advisory Board.

"My focus will be to provide the president relevant and timely information with a substantive and critical analysis and different points of view," he said.

Expressing his desire to work with a variety of people, both on and off campus, Gonzalez explained, "My role is not simply to work with higher administration; my function is to understand the diversity of perceptions and needs." He expressed "a keen interest" in working with affirmative action and educational equity and said a long-range goal is to bring together a consortium to focus on the needs of minority students.

Dr. Gonzales believes his training and professional experience in evaluating educational programs will be valuable in his new position. "I have training to assess goals and objectives of organizations and to arrive at a conclusion whether they are being reached." He has been both an evaluator and the person who reviews the evaluators. "I know what it is to be on both sides of the stick."

Prior to arriving on the San Bernardino campus Nov. 1, Dr. Gonzalez was a visiting research associate at the Higher Education Research Institute at UCLA and a consultant to the California Postsecondary Education Commission and the Tomas Rivera Center in Claremont. Earlier he had been director of the Academic Advancement Program at UCLA and coordinator of the undergraduate bilingual special education project at the University of Texas in Austin.

Much of his personal motivation stems from the high value he holds for learning. "The learning process is never-ending and this creates special concerns." He believes society must be helped to understand the increased need for learning, as it faces the 21st century. To overcome complacency with the present, he urges a renewed sense of curiosity about future change, which is constant and rapid.

"I have concerns for segments of our society which are not doing well in our educational system, specifically, the low income and the underrepresented minorities, the Blacks and the Hispanics," he said.

"The task of the university and the president is to reach an equilibrium between equality and quality of education," Dr. Gonzalez said.

In his personal life, Dr. Gonzalez finds diversity as well. On the way to work from his home in Claremont, he listens to Spanish radio stations; at home in the evening, he enjoys jazz. While he loves Mexican food, he now is enjoying learning to cook Chinese.

"I regard myself as a Texan, a Californian, a Mexican-American, an American," which balances his interests and points of view, he said. "I feel fortunate to see and experience the world from different perspectives."

He met his wife, Irene Hoffman, at the University of Illinois, where he earned his Ph.D. in educational psychology. She is a librarian and will be working in computer services for libraries. "We share a strong background in computers," he added.

When he's not in his office, or at a luncheon meeting, Gonzalez might be found on the racquetball court. "You pay a high price if you don't take care of yourself. You have to learn to deal with stress," he said as he anticipated a game with a new friend.

Club Sponsors Art Sale

Christmas ornaments, jewelry, vases, pottery and woodworking are among the items to be sold by students in the Art Department at their annual Christmas art sale Nov. 30 and Dec. 1-2-3. The Clay and Glass Club is sponsoring the sale which will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in front of the Creative Arts Building. A portion of the proceeds go to the club which buys items for use in the art studios.

Blood Drive Here Tuesday

Faculty, staff and students may accrue credit in the Blood Bank of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties, for themselves and their dependents, by donating during the campus blood drive next Tuesday, Nov. 24.

The drive will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Student Health Center. The process takes about 45 minutes, said Dorinda Thurman, health services assistant in the Health Center.

Lost Items Must Be Reclaimed By Dec. 4

Lost items turned in to Campus Police before Aug. 31 must be claimed by Wednesday, Dec. 2 or they will be donated to charity.

These particular items were found on campus between June 1 and Aug. 31, explained Harry Larsen (Parking Services). "Any one having lost items on campus during that period is asked to check with Public Safety, Ext. 7555, no later than Wednesday, Dec. 2."

The unclaimed items will be donated to local charitable organizations on Dec. 4.

Dr. Feyn Presents Faculty Lecture On Obesity

Dr. Richard Feyn (Biology) will discuss his research on obesity for the annual fall lecture sponsored by The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 24 in the Sycamore Room of the Commons.

"The entire campus community is invited to the lecture, which will be followed by refreshments," said Dr. Tom Pierce (Economics), chapter president.

Dr. Feyn has received a variety of research awards, including his third Meritorious Performance and Professional Promise Award and a faculty professional development grant, both given by the university last June.

Part of Dr. Feyn's research is concerned with the relationship between obesity and diabetes which begins in adults.

A CSUSB alumnus, Dr. Feyn received his B.S. and M.S. in biology here and his Ph.D. from the University of Arizona.

Phi Kappa Phi is the only university-wide honor society on campus. It recognizes superior scholarship in all academic disciplines, said Dr. Pierce. Membership is by invitation to selected upper-division and graduate students. Faculty and staff also are members of the chapter.

Take a Bite Out of Crime, Police Advise

A university campus is a microcosm of society and some of the crimes which occur in society also happen on campus, the Department of Public Safety reminds.

The department suggests faculty and staff can "take a bite out of crime" by heeding some of their advice:

- * Secure personal belongings such as purses, backpacks and wallets in a locked desk or file cabinet at all times;

- * Report suspicious people or circumstances to the University Police immediately;

- * Keep vehicles locked;

- * Safeguard all office and exterior building keys and do not lend them to unauthorized persons;

- * Keep portable state property (for example, projectors, VCRs, overhead projectors) in locked offices or supply cabinets whenever possible.

The general business number for University Police is Ext. 7555; however, Ext. 7557 should be used to report an emergency, said Lt. Edward Harrison, chief of police operations.

Exercise Class Open

Faculty and staff are invited to participate in an exercise class which meets during the noon hour on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, said Dr. Barbara Sirotnik (Information and Decision Sciences). The group uses Jane Fonda tapes. Further information is available from Dr. Sirotnik, Ext. 7530, or Mary Williams (Social and Behavioral Sciences), Ext. 7221.

PFM Adds Employees

A catering manager and a management trainee have been employed by Professional Food-Service Management (PFM) to meet the increasing needs in the Commons and the Student Union snack bar, announced Bill Fennell, PFM director.

Kathleen R. Dittmore, the new catering manager, holds a B.S. in dietetics and food administration from Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo and has done graduate work in the School of Education here.

Rebecca L. Murphy, who has been a cafeteria manager for the Jurupa School District, is a management trainee and will be working in all areas including the snack bar, catering and dormitory food service.

Sympathy

to Gail Brewington (International Student Services) on the death of her father, Raymond Wagster, Nov. 11 in Yucaipa. Memorial services were held Monday, Nov. 16 in Yucaipa.

Congratulations to Dr. Robert Cramer (Psychology) and his wife, Karen, on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Elizabeth Kennedy Cramer, Nov. 4. She weighed 8 pounds 4 ounces.

Correction

The correct meeting times for the Adult Children of Alcoholics self-help group, sponsored by the Counseling Center, are 7-9 p.m., Mondays in PS 227 and 4-6 p.m., Tuesdays in PS 107. The times on the poster are in error.
